Letter to the Premier re.
Centre for Dyslexia

Hi Don – I've just gone back through the last couple of weeks of stakeholder reports & the following items were on reports with questions about direction. Since no one else weighed in on them, I'm following up with you in hopes you can confirm.

FROM JAN 17:

Mayor Ken Sim (Vancouver) – A letter to PDE regarding funding and supports for people living with dyslexia. He notes that the City of Vancouver is in negotiations of a long-term lease for a “Centre for Dyslexia” project and is asking the Province to consider contributing capital funds to the project so that it can move forward. We will request ECC respond and send an acknowledgement, unless advised that a response from PDE/PO is preferred.

FROM JAN 20:

Malcom Macpherson, legal counsel for Lheidli T'enneh First Nation – An email to PDE following their meeting in Prince George yesterday, noting he represent Lheidli T'enneh and a number of other First Nations in BC. He shares a short Bar Talk article written by himself regarding the land back movement in Canada. We will send an acknowledgement on our end, please advise if a more substantive response such as a letter from PDE is preferred.

FROM JAN 30:

Okanagan Nation Alliance – A letter from the Tribal Chair on behalf of the Chiefs of Syilx Okanagan Nations.^{s.16}

Hello David:

It was a pleasure to meet you yesterday in Prince George. As discussed, I represent the Lheidli T'enneh and a number of other First Nations in BC.

Please keep up reminding British Columbians that the land was stolen from the Indigenous people. It is the truth and it makes a difference when the premier of the province speaks that truth.

In the event that my email makes it you, I've enclosed a short Bar Talk article I wrote last fall on the topic of the land back movement in Canada.

I hope to cross paths with you again soon.

Regards,

Malcolm

Dear Premier Eby,

Please find attached letter for your consideration. Thank you,

Ken Sim

Mayor | City of Vancouver

January 16, 2023.

Dear Premier Eby,

I know you and I share similar goals in regards to improving the lives of British Columbians, and ensuring children reach their full potential.

A person living with dyslexia has higher risks of homelessness, addiction, and mental health challenges – along with literacy challenges that deprive them of opportunity that are intrinsically tied to one’s employment, prosperity and success in life.

80 percent of homeless youth, and 50 percent of the homeless population in BC have dyslexia, and that this most prevalent learning disorder affects up to 1 million British Columbians.

Yet, we are lacking in resources to address the challenge. As you know, it is why in 2021 the City of Vancouver committed to begin negotiations of a long-term land lease for a project called the Centre for Dyslexia. I and my colleagues stand behind this decision.

The team behind the project have world-renowned expertise in dyslexia, and their long-term vision for the Centre will have benefits for the entire province.

Our contribution lays the groundwork for the Centre to be realized. While we understand the Centre’s leadership is currently starting a fundraising campaign for the estimated $123M cost of the building, they will need support from government.

I write to you to identify the Centre for Dyslexia as a priority, and for my colleagues and I, ask that your Government consider contributing capital funds to the project.

This is an important moment for the City of Vancouver and Government of British Columbia to demonstrate leadership for a marginalized and under-served population, who – with our vital support and the right skills the Centre for Dyslexia can enable – are so able to contribute to a healthier society.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to be 'Ken Sim', written in a cursive style.

Hello Susan,

Mayor Sim – please request ECC to respond.

Macpherson – no substantive response required. A printed copy of the email and attachment should be passed on to PDE as an FYI item.

ONA – IRR should work with ENV on an immediate response to the substance of the letter. Please have them add myself to the CC list.

Thanks

Don
