Completed

Jake Costello, CBC

Kurtis Doering, News 1130
Sean Bideshi, Roundhouse Radio
Shane Woodford, CHNL

Issue: Would like interviews on the new Dangerous Driving changes.

Status: CBC: interviewed minister, CFX: cancelled interview request, news 1130/Roundhouse/CHNL/CFX: provided more detail and answered questions as Minister was unavailable for an interview:

How long should these drivers expect to be off the road under the new model?

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->A key part of the new model is that RoadSafetyBC will be better equipped to intervene quickly and fairly, based on the circumstances of the offence.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Important details like the traffic conditions at the time, the presence of pedestrians, whether drugs or alcohol were involved – all of those will be provided by police and considered by the superintendent of motor vehicles, along with the driver's record over the past five years.

What kinds of things will RoadSafetyBC be considering in deciding how long to pull a dangerous driver's licence?

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->They'll be looking at why the driver was stopped and the risk factors at that time – everything from whether the roads were wet and traffic was heavy, to whether the driver was speeding, drinking, drug-affected or had passengers in the vehicle.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Those factors, as well as the driver's abstract for the past five years, will inform the length of the driving prohibition.

what's the process? Does their licence get suspended right away, or does RoadSafetyBC contact them at a later date.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Under this new model, which comes into place Dec 1, police will complete a High-Risk Driving Incident Report to initiate a review by the Superintendent of Motor Vehicles, to determine whether the risk to public safety warrants immediate intervention. The Superintendent will consider the incident in its entirety –including incident details, the driver's behaviour and the entirety of the driver's five-year driving record. If the Superintendent is satisfied that the driver is an immediate risk to public safety, the Superintendent will issue a Notice of Prohibition in order to immediately intervene and ensure public safety by removing the driver from the road as swiftly as possible. Most prohibitions are generally between three and 36 months in length.

Also, what's the appeal process? If a driver requests a review of their penalty, does their licence remain suspended until a decision is made?

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->The same fair, established adjudication process used for interventions under the Driver Improvement Program will be available to drivers who want a review of the high risk driving prohibition. Issue: Reporter is trying to confirm the facts below. Reporter would like any documentation or an interview to confirm this: <http://thebreaker.news/news/13000-blundell/> (8600 Sidaway, which is valued at $3.27 million and registered to Ming Qiang Andon Pan. That property is north of the 13,000-square foot farmland mansion at 8880 Sidaway registered to Wen Feng. Authorities believe it was the site of an illegal casino, so the B.C. Civil Forfeiture Office is applying to seize the $4.95 million property.)

Status: Provided response: Litigation is ongoing so inappropriate to comment or interview, but can provide this Notice (attached) for you. Let me know if you need anything else.

Dustin Godfrey, Penticton Western News

Issue: Reporter is seeking an array of statistics about B.C.'s 10 correctional centres:

- 1) The number of inmates transferred to and from Okanagan Correctional Centre, broken down by the source facility (i.e., which centre they transferred to OCC from), from Jan. 1, 2017, through Oct. 1, 2017.
- 2) The number of staff transferred to and from OCC, broken down by the source facility (for existing staff who transferred from another centre), from Jan. 1, 2017, through Oct. 1, 2017.
- 3) # of inmates in each of B.C.'s 10 provincial correctional centres, on Jan. 1, 2017, and Oct. 1, 2017.
- 4) # of cells in each correctional centre, including for OCC the overall number of cells and the number currently in use (given the phasing in of inmates at the new centre in 2017).
- 5) # of employees at all centres, broken down by centre and title (e.g., correctional officer, chaplain, nurse), on Jan. 1 and Oct. 1, 2017.
- 6) The combined total of salaries of all staff at each centre, on Jan. 1 and Oct. 1, 2017.
- 7) For each centre, the total number of rule violations by inmates this year - and of those, the total involving controlled substances.

Hey,

More info in attachments, but the big ones would be surrey wrap program (along with others in the province), working with the feds on the 327$ million announced to tackle gun and gang violence, and our recent announcement on the illegal firearms task force report that contains a variety of recommendations that we are looking at moving forward with.

Hi Michelle,
Please see attached revised OIC for Ministers signature. If you could please have it signed ASAP that would be great as it needs to be on Dec 13th Cabinet agenda.
Thanks,
Jessica
