Hello all,

Minister Beare's quote approved as below:

"I know athletes and their families have been missing the joy of competition these past few months," said Lisa Beare, Minister of Tourism, Arts and Culture. "viaSport has done a great job working with health officials and our amateur sport organizations to ensure we can safely and gradually return to game play. I encourage everyone - players, parents, coaches and volunteers - to continue to work together to make sure we can play and compete safely." (approved)

Subject: Invitation to All Members

Good evening Members,

I am writing to share an opportunity to participate in a special event on Friday, August 14.

Gurdeep Pandher, a Bhangra dance teacher from the Yukon, will be at the Parliament Buildings and has extended an invitation to all Members to take part in a Bhangra dance lesson at the front of the Parliament Buildings.

The purpose of Mr. Pander's invitation is to promote Bhangra dancing, in support of cultural diversity, understanding and inclusion. This physically-distant outdoor event will follow public health guidelines and will be capped at 50 participants. The dance lesson will take place at 12:05 pm, and if there is interest, a second session will begin at approx. 12:10 pm. All dancing is expected to be complete at 12:20pm.

In case you may not yet know of Mr. Pander, he was featured in this recent article:

<https://enroute.aircanada.com/en/article/gurdeep-pandher>

If you would like to take part in this fun opportunity to mark the end of the summer sitting period, please contact Karen Armstrong, Office of the Speaker at karen.armstrong@leg.bc.ca to RSVP by end of day tomorrow, Wednesday, August 12.

Many thanks,

Hon. Darryl Plecas

Hi Team,

Attached is the media summary for yesterday's Chinese Canadian Museum announcement. 10 media hits from major outlets– haven't seen the full coverage yet from the community media (other than Fairchild) but we will add that next week. The overall tone was very positive, with Minister Chow and/or Minister Beare quoted several times and lot's of coverage on society chair Grace Wong, due to the pre-opening media tour.

Be sure to read this one Globe and Mail feature: <https://www.theglobeandmail.com/canada/british-columbia/article-vancouver-exhibit-dives-into-history-of-chinese-canadians/>

- CTV (pool camera)

Thank you to Johann for arranging many of the interviews and to Melissa for getting us to this great milestone.

And thanks Stephanie and Scott for all your support and speedy approvals on the many pieces. Great team work!

Hello Rachel

I hope to ~~s~~.22

When I talked with Naveen he and I talked about including a video to highlight the heritage would be part of the announcement.

Not as complicated as the Chinese Canadian Museum video perhaps but a short video using archival footage and the meeting with the Premier that would be included with the announcement.

Could we talk further about this?

Hi Lisa,

Below is a quote for your approval for the Chinese Canadian Museum temporary exhibit news release. News release and media advisory are also attached for your reference.

"People told us they wanted the Chinese Canadian Museum to showcase Chinese Canadian history, past and present, in the places where it happened," said Lisa Beare, Minister of Tourism, Arts and Culture. "This exhibit embodies that vision by telling the stories of the people who helped build British Columbia and offers a way for British Columbians to add their stories." UNAPPROVED

New project to showcase Punjabi Canadian history in B.C.

VANCOUVER - British Columbia is celebrating the contributions of the Punjabi Canadian community to its economy, history and culture through the development of new educational supports, exhibits and online resources.

The project is part of the Province's commitment to creating a welcoming and inclusive society.

"The Punjabi community has a long and unique history that has contributed significantly to the strength and success of our province," said Premier John Horgan. "The Punjabi Canadian Legacy Project will share these stories with future generations, while honouring the resilience and diversity of our multicultural communities."

The Province is providing $1.14 million to the Abbotsford Community Foundation to create and deliver Haq and History: A Punjabi Canadian Legacy Project in collaboration with the South Asian Studies Institute of the University of the Fraser Valley and other community partners.

Haq and History reflects on the right of Punjabi Canadians in British Columbia to record their vast and significant history, correct and enhance the public educational and historical records, and create community legacies that extend beyond the current time for future generations. The project will showcase the valuable contributions of the Punjabi community in B.C. to its economy, history and culture, and the community's resilience in the face of injustice and discrimination.

"British Columbians need opportunities to learn more about the people that comprise our diverse and multicultural society," said George Chow, MLA for Vancouver-Fraserview. "The Punjabi Canadian Legacy Project will provide great insight into a unique part of our province's history, help build intercultural connections and foster respect and appreciation among people of all backgrounds."

The project will continue to be developed over the next few years to include:

- * provincewide digitization of South Asian Canadian collections, including artifacts, photos, texts, materials, oral histories and other resources for the online South Asian Canadian Digital Archive;
- * creation of a travelling exhibition on South Asian Canadian history;
- * documentation and marking of sites that are of historic importance to South Asian Canadians and B.C. communities;
- * development of Punjabi Canadian learning resources for social studies curriculum in B.C. schools;
- * research and development of an online comprehensive B.C. Labour Movements Social Histories Research Project; and
- * production of a public history book - South Asian Canadian Social History Project.

"Education is key to fostering a greater respect and appreciation for one another across our multicultural society," said Satwinder Kaur Bains, director of the South Asians Studies Institute at the University of the Fraser Valley. "A primary goal of the project is to improve the historical record of the significant contributions of Punjabi Canadians, with the goal to reduce racism while underscoring the value of B.C.'s diverse society."

The development of Haq and History: A Punjabi Canadian Legacy Project was led by the Punjabi Legacies Advisory Committee with South Asian Canadian community partners in Golden, Prince George, Vancouver Island, Kelowna, Vancouver, Surrey and Abbotsford. This project is consistent with the call for development of educational resources on the histories and contributions of racialized and Indigenous communities in B.C., heard during the government's community consultations on racism and hate in the summer of 2019.

Quick Facts:

- * Established in 2015, the primary purpose of the Punjabi Canadian Legacy Advisory Committee is to support and develop ways to preserve, explore and share the contributions of South Asian Canadians.
- * To date, projects completed under the committee include: the development of new educational materials for the Royal BC Museum's Punjabi Pioneer Food History Project, consultations throughout the province with South Asian Canadian families and the creation of the South Asian Historic Places Project, an inventory of South Asian heritage sites with Heritage B.C.
- * According to the latest census from Statistics Canada, 363,885 (8%) of British Columbians identified their ethnic origin as South Asian, with 38,725 (1%) specifying Punjabi.
- * From 2014-18, police-reported hate crime increased in B.C. and South Asian Canadians were consistently among the top five racialized communities reporting incidents.
