Hi Steve,

I am not sure if you are aware but Minister of Labour, Harry Bains introduced a Bill in the legislature today which will make significant changes to the Labour Code to better protect the rights of workers. You can read more at:

<https://news.gov.bc.ca/releases/2019LBR0015-000823>

But I thought you and your colleagues would be interested in the section on successorship:

Successorship (contract flipping)

- Extend successorship protection to re-tendering of service contracts in specific areas:
  - building cleaning/janitorial services;
  - security services;
  - bus transportation services;
  - non-clinical services in the health care sector; and
  - food services.

- Since the cuts occurred in 2014, Ferry Advisory Committee Chairs have been requesting that some of the services be reinstated.
- In response to the request from the FAC Chairs, BC Ferries has already added back the mid-day sailings during the off-peak period.
- This has added over 290 round-trips per year on each of these two routes.
- There are no additional round-trips being added to these routes as a result of the announcement on Friday February 22, 2019.
- BC Ferries continues to monitor sailing waits and will consider additional sailings when it makes sense to do so.

Subject: CleanBC Town Hall, Transportation and Land Use must be a priority

Good Morning Mr. Heyman and Mr. Weaver,

Thank you for the CleanBC telephone town halls. I was able to participate in the one last week for interior BC. More such conversations among British Columbians are necessary to get everyone on the same page with what's required to achieve our GHG goals and to encourage aligned action by business, government and individuals.

I appreciated that most of the time was allocated to answering questions, however, a great piece was missing by not framing up where the greatest sources of carbon emissions in BC are coming from. This is problematic because as I was listening to both the questions and the polls that took place, it is clear that the general public is misdiagnosing what is required to meaningfully reduce our carbon emissions and Mr. Heyman, you didn't appear to correct them. What stood out to me is that people want to be paid to put up solar panels and electric vehicles and they think recycling and composting will save the planet.

We know that while electrification is a big part of BC's climate action plan, BC has already a surplus of clean power and the price of solar is already economically viable without subsidies. Solar therefore, is a red herring and subsidization of solar would be a waste of resources that could be used for actual carbon abatement. What was communicated during the town hall was for people to stay tuned in the fall for rebate announcements.

During the telephone polling, it is astounding that reducing waste was identified as the top action to reduce GHG emissions while only 16% cited transportation despite that transportation is responsible for at least 2/3 of community GHG emissions. Instead of informing people that one of the biggest actions will need to be reducing transportation emissions, the response was promoting Clean BC's waste reduction actions. Missing is the elephant in the room, we need to focus on transportation.

On transportation, I called and inquired about land use planning impacting transportation behaviour and the need for predictable funds to be in place to reward land use planning that supports reducing auto dependence. The response I got was reiterating the transit investments made in Metro Vancouver. I also recognize there is an active transportation piece in the works, this is not enough so long as sprawl and road expansion continues.

Kelowna, in particular, is one of the fastest growing regions in the country and also the most car-dependent. Sadly, the conversation here is how to fund the next $100 million road expansion and city council just buckled for a growth scenario for more sprawl that will hinder the Province from achieving its targets. We need to change the paradigm fast so the next 50,000 people will actually reduce the number of cars on the road. The Clean BC plan itself neglects to concretely address the importance of transportation and land use planning. There are no actions to encourage local governments to build compact complete communities and no actions to change how funding for transportation, particularly roads will be reprioritized to provide options that help people get out of their cars. This is astounding to me.

BC has a carbon tax to encourage people to emit less carbon, yet we don't provide infrastructure and proper policy signals to give people alternatives to driving such as removing tolls on the Port Mann bridge. Worse, too many transportation investments continue to support new automobile infrastructure rather than in more efficient ways to travel. Sprawl and automobile infrastructure are simply carbon enabling infrastructure similar to oil pipelines. Even worse, they are poor investments because they are both bankrupting our cities and increasing congestion over time. What is necessary is a complete overhaul of how transportation and infrastructure is funded. I propose the following:

1. Stop subsidizing sprawl and driving. Any local government infrastructure funding should be contingent on supporting new development that helps people who live there have a lower carbon footprint than existing residents and also provides the density necessary to provide levels of service and amenities that allow existing residents to reduce their carbon footprint. New communities should be complete, compact and meet the density required to enable a minimum 15-minute bus headway and be proven to be able to support itself from its tax base (an asset rather than a liability). Infill projects should be rewarded to get existing areas up to that standard.
2. The province changes legislation to require development cost charges to pay for transit and active transportation infrastructure instead of just roads as is currently the case
3. Every community should have a natural asset assessment completed to identify the infrastructure services that natural systems provide. Protecting these have massive avoided infrastructure and energy costs. Infrastructure funding will not be provided to communities that compromise these systems. We need a baseline, however, to know what to protect.
4. Require community to have a mode split target to reduce auto-dependence. Official Community Plans should be required to prioritize infill to enable this mode shift to meet minimum levels of service for alternative transportation such as 15-minute bus headways and active transportation infrastructure
5. Every local government should sign on to the shared mobility principles - <https://www.sharedmobilityprinciples.org/>
6. The Ministry of Transportation needs to be overhauled from its sole mandate of highways and instead have the goals of moving people as efficiently as possible and managing congestion by reducing the number of cars, rather than expanding highways. BC Transit and other transit agencies similarly need to have their goals be to increase ridership rather than operating cobbled welfare systems. We have enough highways and roads in this province, what we lack is a minimum level of service standard to make options other than driving viable. Let's start with establishing that level of service, set the land use requirements to support it, and provide predictable funding to get it done.
7. Lastly, autonomous electric transit is essential to enable a cost-effective and reliable alternative to driving. Consider pilot projects like Edmonton's ELLA project to encourage shuttles to from airports and transit hubs to downtowns and business parks. Maybe this is something the private sector will want to invest in.

Thank you for hearing these suggestions. Communities represented the demand side of the carbon equation and having a strong transportation-land use component is critical not only to meet BC's climate reduction targets but the livability and economic sustainability of our communities.

I would look forward at the chance to discuss these with you further or hear that you have a comprehensive plan in the works.

Regards,

Robert Stupka, Kelowna, BC

One of our constituents came into the office and spoke at length about his concerns over increased traffic on Glen Road in Cowichan Bay due to a new development happening two blocks to the south. He has observed cars frequently travelling faster than the posted speed limit. s.22 and he believes that the traffic s.22 will increase considerably. His attempts to talk to the CVRD and your Ministry have resulted in frustration. He has a question/suggestion about an alternate route. According to him, nobody seems to be taking responsibility for the problem and no one has directed him to someone who can respond with authority to his complaint/suggestion.

My questions are:

1. Is/was there a public consultation process for this project?
2. Who should we contact regarding this issue?

Thanks for your time.

Subject: Malahat problems continue and will remain unchecked....

Dear Minister,

It's clear you will never read this email, however the suggestion should be considered in the public interest.

The problems associated with traffic, weather and topography of the Malahat portion of highway 1 is a problem that is simply not going to go away, if any it's going to get worse.

I would suggest it is not in the public interest to continue pouring funds into a route which is unviable and lost its functionality over 30 years ago.

You do however still have the old E&N rail network at your disposal which could be developed into a high speed commuter rail, while imposing a toll on the Langford - Mill Bay portion of the Malahat making use of a rail alternative more practical to commuters. This said a toll would reflect a discount for commercial vehicles using the route for transportation and delivery of goods but making it much higher for general car traffic to discourage travel during peak periods.

The ministries recent and ongoing "expensive" upgrades are only creating certainty for fatal collisions southbound as cars and trucks jockey racing from four lanes into one just north of Goldstream which has already been the scene of several fatalities.

Police alone can not reduce this problem, it's created by human greed, stupidity and failure to take appropriate action long ago. A move to an advanced commuter rail (suggesting a mag-lift) for safety and practical cost spanning the next 50 years would be doable within 5 years during which tolls would force commuters to consider buses as alternatives to car travel.

I would like to discuss this with you directly, but to date you have repeatedly ignored communications and refused meetings deferring all communication to your entrenched civil service whom are only interested in keeping their jobs for life behind desks without knowledge of the real world (I can confirm this with evidence if you need it).

Subject: Texada Island Chamber of Commerce speech, to Premier Horgan (Apr 12, 2019)

Hello Premier Horgan,

Thanks for listening to the Texada Island Chamber of Commerce during your visit to Powell River on April 12, 2019.

We sincerely appreciated the opportunity to share Texada Island's comments and concerns with you.

Note, I have cc'd Jan Armstrong, the Vice President of the Texada Island Chamber of Commerce, MLA Nicholas Simons, and MP Rachel Blaney on this message.

As you requested, my speech is attached.

'The asks' are set out in point-form below.

FOLLOW-UP

I have included contact information at the end of the speech, should your staff be able to assist in any way with follow-up on issues such as:

- including Texada in forestry policy consultations
- an idea to establish pilot & aviation mechanics training non-repayable grants, conditional upon 5 yrs' work in the BC aviation industry, post-certification
- BC Hydro support to enhance commercialization opportunities for our Texada/Gillies Bay Airport
- support for closing the broadband gap
- cannabis industry support for local growers, processors, and retail
- support to establish electric vehicle charging stations on Texada
- support to establish one eldercare facility on Texada (a non-profit is now established)
- support to help the Improvement District pay for aging water infrastructure upgrades to be health-compliant
- fall/winter/spring destination marketing, when it's toughest for businesses to survive

- FLNR staff should visit Texada to consult with residents prior to approving a shellfish farm in front of a UREP park at Northeast Bay

- Fog lines painting on the roads is needed so that seniors don't continue being shut-ins after 4 pm in the winter months because they can't tell where the edges of the roads are in the face of oncoming traffic lights. We've been told the sides of the roads can't be painted because they're too narrow. They were painted before. The roads did not get skinnier... even if the most dangerous corners / turns could be painted, it would be helpful. Sounds like a cost-savings excuse to many. (Did not have time to state in speech.)

- BC Transit: would be nice to have 1 public bus, 1 day a week on Texada, especially as many seniors are aging out of driving. (Did not have time to state in speech.)

Thank you, Premier Horgan. You're doing a great job!

I appreciate Nicholas Simons' close contact with Texada, and for Nicholas and his staff thinking to include us in this meeting.

Best regards,

Cindy

Good Morning Will and Mel,

As I mentioned - when the CAs from Vancouver Fairview and Vancouver Point Grey are in Victoria for their conference they would like to meet to discuss the Broadway Subway Project (and if time ridehailing).

They have offered a couple of times they are free:

Either 4-4.30pm on Monday May 6 or after 3.30 on Thursday May 9th

Which time works best for you?

Is meeting in MO ok? You could also go to their hotel – which I believe is The Coast.

Here are the questions they would like to cover:

In terms of specifics regarding the BSP:

- How to handle communications
- How to avoid Canada Line problems/anticipate problems and potential concerns
- Extension to UBC and related issues (NIMBYs, density, school capacity and other amenities)
- How can we be pro-active in our outreach regarding this issue?

Please let me know and I will set this up.

Thanks

Hi Lynne,

I hope you had a nice Easter weekend! ☺

MLA Stilwell has been contacted by a constituent who is concerned about safety with BC Ferries looking at piloting beer and wine on several of its vessels. He says his understanding is the ferry is an extension of the highway system and wants to know why the people in charge of this segment of the highway are considering serving alcohol to people who will be getting into their vehicles. He'd like to know a little about the rationale behind the decision and what agencies would police this kind of decision.

Where would you recommend this constituent go to address his concerns and questions?

The meeting went well. Attached presentation made by Ken Beattie, ED, BC Brewers Guild.

Ministry staff - Kenedee Ludwar and Ross Mclean - attended.

At the end of the call Kenedee suggested using one Ale Trail Route as a sample to take back to her senior managers and look at traffic standards, existing policy etc. and how they would line up. She committed to re-connect with the BC Brewers Guild re process and next steps.

Check out the attached – it is interesting.

Hi Lynne,

Apologies, I should have caught this one when it arrived in the Minister's mailbox.s.22 has written about this issue several times in the past, and has received responses from VID staff. I've attached some background from VID (283882 also includes their most recent response tos.22 ). VID appear to be confident the road is not ours. They've suggested tos.22 that she apply for residential access (driveway off of the Island Highway so that she wouldn't have to use Van West Road.

This past February, s.22 wrote to the Premier (283882). VID advised against responding and the PO concurred.

Let me know if you still want to try to proceed with a reply direct, or suggest another direction.

Thanks,

I'm not sure if you are able to help with this, but maybe you can forward the question.

Last week at the ARA luncheon, Minister Trevena and I were talking about our Motorcycle BC project. She mentioned she was going to speak to ADM Deborah Bowman, that afternoon, about following up with a more detailed discussion.

Can you find out if she did speak with her?

I was going to reach out to ADM Bowman, but it would be helpful to know if they have spoken.

Thank you in advance for your help.

Hi Cindy,
This is very vague request – I can get more information if needed.
A constituent of MLA Larson is part of a group of people who are developing technology for new paving material that incorporates carbon, reduces greenhouse gas emissions and lasts longer.
This group is wanting to reach out to someone in government to talk about this.
I am not sure if this would be someone in our ministry or EMPR.
If it is us – could you provide the best person to connect them with.
Thanks

Subject: RE: pedestrian fatalities, ghg emissions, health and ICBC cost reductions

- safety is the ministry's highest priority.
- setting appropriate speed limits plays a critical role in protecting all road users.
- under the Motor Vehicle Act, local governments have the authority to set and change speed limits on municipal roads as they deem appropriate.
- some municipalities have chosen to create 30 km/h speed zones in residential areas, leaving speed limits on main roads at 50 km/h, while others have chosen to set a 40 km/h limit on their streets.
- the ministry is not involved in setting speed limits on non-provincially owned residential roads, suggest constituents share their thoughts with local government. They are in the best position to make decisions about local streets.

Hope this helps,
Lynne

Good afternoon Lynne

Trust this finds you well and refreshed after<sup>s.22</sup>

One of our constituents has approached our office requesting assistance in obtaining information from the Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure.

s.22 company, Transamerican Power Poles) has corresponded since August 2014 with Dave Woolford and Daryl Finlayson of MOTI with regards to an application he submitted for approval to be on MOTI's list of approved suppliers to supply Traffic and Street Light poles. They have provided all the requested information to the Ministry as well as references.

For ease of understanding the context, I am forwarding the email string between <sup>s.22</sup> and Ministry staff since November 19, 2017. There has been no response from staff back to <sup>s.22</sup> since the March 14, 2019 email.

We are asking for staff advice and follow-up on this application on behalf of our constituent.

I have attached my Certificate of Authority for this request.

Thank you for looking into this for us.

Hi Stacey,
Until last month, the Galena – Shelter Bay ferry, MV Columbia, hadn't missed any sailings since 2015. In March 2019, the vessel missed seven round trip sailings on two separate days because of a start-up glitch.
The vessel delivers 20 roundtrip sailings a day, and occasionally provides service around the clock during emergency situations.
Hope this helps.
