[EXTERNAL] This email came from an external source. Only open attachments or links that you are expecting from a known sender.

Dear Minister of Land, Water and Resources and Minister Responsible for Fisheries, Honorable Josie Osbourne, Minister of Energy, Mines and Low Carbon Innovation, Honourable Bruce Ralston, and Minister of Environment and Climate Change Strategy, Honourable George Heyman:

Firstly, your collective experience appears to be an excellent 'fit' for your roles in the BC government - degrees in law and history, social, environmental and labour activism and fisheries biologist for the Nui-chat-nulth Council as well as executive director of an environmental education non-profit organization. Concerned Canadians can hope that with your involvement and leadership, portfolios will level the lobby playing field for the rights of Treaty 8 Nations, as well as the UNDRIP for BC Nations on (unceded lands) and BC will significantly lead Canada in environmental climate change.

I have six main issues for which I seek your input to better understand:

i) the colonial injustice and disrespect towards the hereditary Wet'suwet'en chiefs and many clan members on their unceded land by both federal and provincial governments allowing this project to proceed. How can varying levels of government be more involved in nation to nation agreements beyond the colonially structured tribal councils with the Crown, to include the hereditary systems of governance? Can one hope that your offices will step in like with the Blueberry Nation?;

ii) the reported blasting by CGL industries near salmon spawning watersheds which I believe is an issue for all of your mandates, and which according to the federal DFO legislation is illegal. Why is this not being halted and prevented from reoccurring by allowing Wet'suwet'en chiefs to oversee their own lands without restrictions? Surely the safe keeping of wild salmon for generations to come can continue to be entrusted to the Wet'suwet'en hereditary chiefs as they have done for millennia?;

iii) the planned hefty provincial and federal funding directed to CCUS as well as fracking (eg. in the Mountney Formation) that infringes on Treaty 8 and other Nations as well as by far gives the giant trillion dollar profit making fossil fuel companies like Woodfibre LNG (Sḵw̓xwú7mesh land) and the Pathways Alliance unnecessary public purse handouts when they are not matching this level of investment for wind, solar, wave, geo thermal and biofuel combined. Pathways Alliance invested over 20 billion dollars in R & D in 2020 (StatCan) yet is only investing 16.5 billion in CCUS until 2030. Moreover, what they are capturing is no where near what they could be if they put more money into R & D. Shell just announced double the profits for the past two quarters of $11.5 billion, well after COVID recovery (GlobalNews). Clearly they are taking advantage of political offerings to do the minimum while taxpayers carry the burden of climate change efforts. Furthermore, clear scientific data shows existing plants like the Shell Boundary Dam 3 in Saskatchewan are actually have more emissions than they are capturing (7.5 million tonnes vs 4..5 million tonnes) and failing to meet capturing targets, even when drastically lowered (promised 90% to 65%) (The TYEE). Nor is Shell and other fossil fuel companies accountable for the emissions of climate and waterway damaging methane gas due fracking under the guise that it is 'cleaner' than coal and that we need to 'transition'. This is really about money, big profit money and creating enough spin-doctor 'smoke' in the media to make them look like they are doing more than due diligence when indeed they are doing less. Will you reduce and influence the federal affiliates to reduce fossil fuel 'incentives' for CCUS and fracking to an industry that can pay several times over, increase the windfall and carbon taxes for these companies that will force them to find their profit differently, and invest in those geographical areas with hereditary chief agreements to longer term solutions with the greenest technology that is already proven itself in net zero emissions? - Scotland, Japan and France have made outstanding breakthroughs in these fields;

iv) the erroneous 'green' label given to wood pellet industries that are going seemingly unchecked and are responsible for significant clear cutting (which I have seen in real time with my own eyes), without Nation stewardship or sufficient remuneration to the latter for what is being taken from their lands. Will you give stewardship and land back profit rights to First Nations to oversee pellet industries and adjust current legislation to ensure legitimate use of wood scrap occurs vs clear cutting and that the pellets are being purchased for green solutions not to run carbon-emitting British plants in place of coal and gas?;

v) the crises facing the Great Bear Sea and Northern Shelf Bioregion due to overuse and climate change. Will you act vigorously to ensure unbiased MPA network survey results turn into safeguarding this 'marine protected area'?;

and vi) cruise ship access to sensitive coastal waters en route to Alaska where they can and are dumping their waste in Canadian waters as well as causing distress to marine life such as whales and sharks because BC and federal legislation allows it. Will you change the 'voluntary' component of the relevant BC legislation that would restrict ships from dumping, as Washington State and the US have done and revisit cruise ship and large tanker accessibility?

These tasks in front of you are daunting, just like finding justice for residential and welfare system Indigenous families yet the BC government is just about to take a decent, courageous legislative step on that! Bravo!

I would have faith in your experience, passion and mandate, that things can and will change over time...yet the problem is the clock is ticking - climate change won't wait and action needs to be as immediate as possible..

You have the support of many Canadians, not just those who live in your fine province, and we truly look to you for hope, moving forward in a good way, and for a better, greener future.

Thank you for your consideration, your public service and timely action.

Body:

Good Afternoon,

We were recently advised that there are planned demonstrations scheduled to occur on Thursday, November 24th, 08:00 – onwards

Location: 2950 Jutland Road and surrounding buildings, Victoria.

Circumstances: Kill The CGL Drill - Demo at BCOGC. Organizers are encouraging participants to wear black and to make signs, and are assembling at 2950 Jutland. Organizers do have volunteers to act as liaisons with police, civil servants, and to de-escalate if required. The group is targeting the BC Oil and Gas Commission and associated entities as the groups permitting Coastal GasLink.

There is likely to be disruption to traffic in the area of the demonstrations. Consideration should be given to the potential for some demonstrators to attempt to gain entry to government buildings. There is also the potential for staff and clients to be confronted and engaged by demonstrators.

The Province recognizes the right for people to engage in peaceful protest. If you are approached by individuals participating in the demonstration, respond in a neutral, non-confrontational manner and leave the area if asked to do so. If an incident occurs at your office or facility, follow ministry standard safety and security procedures . Report incidents to your supervisor.

The safety of all parties is paramount. No one should risk personal safety to protect property or assets. As always, anyone in an emergency situation should call 9-1-1.

Thank you for your attention to this matter,

CSNR Corporate Security

Will you give stewardship and land back profit rights to First Nations to oversee pellet industries and adjust current legislation to ensure legitimate use of wood scrap occurs vs clear cutting and that the pellets are being purchased for green solutions not to run carbon-emitting British plants in place of coal and gas?;

v) the crises facing the Great Bear Sea and Northern Shelf Bioregion due to overuse and climate change. Will you act vigorously to ensure unbiased MPA network survey results turn into safeguarding this 'marine protected area'?;

and vi) cruise ship access to sensitive coastal waters en route to Alaska where they can and are dumping their waste in Canadian waters as well as causing distress to marine life such as whales and sharks because BC and federal legislation allows it. Will you change the 'voluntary' component of the relevant BC legislation that would restrict ships from dumping, as Washington State and the US have done and revisit cruise ship and large tanker accessibility?

These tasks in front of you are daunting, just like finding justice for residential and welfare system Indigenous families yet the BC government is just about to take a decent, courageous legislative step on that! Bravo!

I would have faith in your experience, passion and mandate, that things can and will change over time...yet the problem is the clock is ticking - climate change won't wait and action needs to be as immediate as possible..

You have the support of many Canadians, not just those who live in your fine province, and we truly look to you for hope, moving forward in a good way, and for a better, greener future.

Thank you for your consideration, your public service and timely action.

Sincerely,

Dear Minister of Land, Water and Resources and Minister Responsible for Fisheries, Honorable Josie Osbourne, Minister of Energy, Mines and Low Carbon Innovation, Honourable Bruce Ralston, and Minister of Environment and Climate Change Strategy, Honourable George Heyman:

Firstly, your collective experience appears to be an excellent 'fit' for your roles in the BC government - degrees in law and history, social, environmental and labour activism and fisheries biologist for the Nui-chat-nulth Council as well as executive director of an environmental education non-profit organization. Concerned Canadians can hope that with your involvement and leadership, portfolios will level the lobby playing field for the rights of Treaty 8 Nations, as well as the UNDRIP for BC Nations on (unceded lands) and BC will significantly lead Canada in environmental climate change.

I have six main issues for which I seek your input to better understand:

- i) the colonial injustice and disrespect towards the hereditary Wet'suwet'en chiefs and many clan members on their unceded land by both federal and provincial governments allowing this project to proceed. How can varying levels of government be more involved in nation to nation agreements beyond the colonially structured tribal councils with the Crown, to include the hereditary systems of governance? Can one hope that your offices will step in like with the Blueberry Nation?;
- ii) the reported blasting by CGL industries near salmon spawning watersheds which I believe is an issue for all of your mandates, and which according to the federal DFO legislation is illegal. Why is this not being halted and prevented from reoccurring by allowing Wet'suwet'en chiefs to oversee their own lands without restrictions? Surely the safe keeping of wild salmon for generations to come can continue to be entrusted to the Wet'suwet'en hereditary chiefs as they have done for millennia?;
- iii) the planned hefty provincial and federal funding directed to CCUS as well as fracking (eg. in the Mountney Formation) that infringes on Treaty 8 and other Nations as well as by far gives the giant trillion dollar profit making fossil fuel companies like Woodfibre LNG (Skwxwú7mesh land) and the Pathways Alliance unnecessary public purse handouts when they are not matching this level of investment for wind, solar, wave, geo thermal and biofuel combined. Pathways Alliance invested over 20 billion dollars in R & D in 2020 (StatCan) yet is only investing 16.5 billion in CCUS until 2030. Moreover, what they are capturing is no where near what they could be if they put more money into R & D. Shell just announced double the profits for the past two quarters of $11.5 billion, well after COVID recovery (GlobalNews). Clearly they are taking advantage of political offerings to do the minimum while taxpayers carry the burden of climate change efforts. Furthermore, clear scientific data shows existing plants like the Shell Boundary Dam 3 in Saskatchewan are actually have more emissions than they are capturing (7.5 million tonnes vs 4..5 million tonnes) and failing to meet capturing targets, even when drastically lowered (promised 90% to 65%) (The TYEE). Nor is Shell and other fossil fuel companies accountable for the emissions of climate and waterway damaging methane gas due fracking under the guise that it is 'cleaner' than coal and that we need to 'transition'. This is really about money, big profit money and creating enough spin-doctor 'smoke' in the media to make them look like they are doing more than due diligence when indeed they are doing less. Will you reduce and influence the federal affiliates to reduce fossil fuel 'incentives' for CCUS and fracking to an industry that can pay several times over, increase the windfall and carbon taxes for these companies that will force them to find their profit differently, and invest in those geographical areas with hereditary chief agreements to longer term solutions with the greenest technology that is already proven itself in net zero emissions? - Scotland, Japan and France have made outstanding breakthroughs in these fields;

iv) the erroneous 'green' label given to wood pellet industries that are going seemingly unchecked and are responsible for significant clear cutting (which I have seen in real time with my own eyes), without Nation stewardship or sufficient remuneration to the latter for what is being taken from their lands. Will you give stewardship and land back profit rights to First Nations to oversee pellet industries and adjust current legislation to ensure legitimate use of wood scrap occurs vs clear cutting and that the pellets are being purchased for green solutions not to run carbon-emitting British plants in place of coal and gas?;

v) the crises facing the Great Bear Sea and Northern Shelf Bioregion due to overuse and climate change. Will you act vigorously to ensure unbiased MPA network survey results turn into safeguarding this 'marine protected area'?;

Will you change the 'voluntary' component of the relevant BC legislation that would restrict ships from dumping, as Washington State and the US have done and revisit cruise ship and large tanker accessibility?

These tasks in front of you are daunting, just like finding justice for residential and welfare system Indigenous families yet the BC government is just about to take a decent, courageous legislative step on that! Bravo!

I would have faith in your experience, passion and mandate, that things can and will change over time...yet the problem is the clock is ticking - climate change won't wait and action needs to be as immediate as possible..

You have the support of many Canadians, not just those who live in your fine province, and we truly look to you for hope, moving forward in a good way, and for a better, greener future.

Thank you for your consideration, your public service and timely action.

Sincerely,

Dear Minister Cullen,

On behalf of TC Energy & the Coastal GasLink Project, we would like to extend our congratulations on your recent appointment as the Minister of Water, Land and Resource Stewardship. The mandate for this ministry is an important one, and I wish you every success as you take on this work on behalf of British Columbians.

At TC Energy, we believe we have a direct and vital role in delivering a shared energy future that is more equitable, just and sustainable. We are positioning the company to achieve net-zero emissions from our operations by 2050, in collaboration with Indigenous partners, stakeholders, and all levels of governments. Working in partnership with the communities we operate in is fundamental to our approach, and that includes our role in economic reconciliation with Indigenous peoples across our unique footprint. By working together, we can change the way energy infrastructure is developed in Canada to be cleaner and more inclusive with the participation of Indigenous and local communities.

Our company shares your government's commitment to lasting reconciliation with Indigenous Peoples, sustainable economic development and strong stewardship of our water and land. We've appreciated working with you in the past, and we look forward to continuing this work in your new role.

As you may be aware, TC Energy is a sponsor of the Natural Resources Forum in January, and I will be speaking at a "Fireside Chat" panel discussion. If your schedule permits, I would appreciate the opportunity to meet with you in Prince George, to discuss BC's energy sector, the path to electrification and how TC can continue to support your government in meeting your objectives.

Sincerely,

Hi Nicole and Julie,

Julie, can you reach out to Shannon to let her know we have received the request, but that Nathan won't be able to sit down and with her in the constituency for the next couple of weeks as he will be out of town.

I don't want to contact her directly as an MO representative until we get clarity on how we will deal with all pipeline requests going forward. (MLA or Minister)

Nicole, please add to the meeting request sheet so that we can discuss as staff. This could be another meeting to schedule for Feb 1-3.

Thanks,
Tristan

I have fully cancelled this 4pm meeting as Minister Osbourne will also be with us for the announcement.

Please feel free to reach out to Trudy, cc'd here in regards to setting something up with her off but at this time unfortunately we wont be able to accommodate.

We will schedule something in the near future for Minister and Bevin to get together.

Should I follow up with Minister Osborne's office separately? Bevin has a tricky calendar and last time he was in BC for meetings they were cancelled last minute, so I would really like for this to work out this time.

Hi Hailey,

I got your message about setting up a meeting for Minister Cullen. You can definitely go through me. A couple of people are away at TC this week which is probably why you haven't gotten a response. Let me know the times and I can check in on Bevin's calendar.

Thanks!

Hi Maeghan,

I have fully cancelled this 4pm meeting as Minister Osbourne will also be with us for the announcement.

Please feel free to reach out to Trudy, cc'd here in regards to setting something up with her off but at this time unfortunately we wont be able to accommodate.

We will schedule something in the near future for Minister and Bevin to get together.

Thanks again for understanding.

Should I follow up with Minister Osborne's office separately? Bevin has a tricky calendar and last time he was in BC for meetings they were cancelled last minute, so I would really like for this to work out this time.

The 4pm time frame doesn't work for Minister Osbourne or Minister Cullen, that's why I was asking for the change of time.

Please let me know if your team would be interested in meeting with Minister Cullen in the spring and we can revisit.

Thanks!

The only time we will have available is 11:00am-11:30am on Thursday, Nov 19 but other than that, we may need to push to a later date in the Spring.

Please advise as soon as possible as we are cutting the time frame pretty close now.
