Community Mental Health Beds/Units Definitions

Facility Type	Definition
Community Residential Care	Community Residential Care facilities are licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) and provide services which include various levels of supports for individuals unable to live independently. These facilities are funded by Health Authorities and provide twenty-four hour, on-site support for three or more residents, including accommodation, meals, personal life skills support, medication administration and linkages with external mental health, addictions and local community services.
Community Assisted Living	Community Assisted Living facilities are registered under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) and provide services which include various levels of supports for individuals unable to live independently and require intensive rehabilitation programming or crisis management. These facilities are funded by Health Authorities and provide twenty-four hour support for three or more residents, including accommodation, meals, personal life skills support, medication administration, and linkages with external mental health, addictions and local community services.
Family Care Homes	Privately owned homes, operated by a family or an individual, and approved and funded by the Health Authorities according to regional standards enforced through contractual requirements. These homes accommodate a maximum of two individuals and provide 24-hour, on-site care and support for persons unable to live independently and requiring support services within a family setting. Services include room and board, assistance with personal life skills and linkage with community mental health, addictions and local community services.
Mental Health Supported Housing	Supported Housing includes a variety of Health Authority funded registered facilities under the CCALA, as well as facilities subjected to the Residential Tenancy Act and standards enforced by the regional health authority. Services include provision of safe, secure and affordable accommodation and support services, which vary in the level of intensity, such as assistance with personal life skills and crisis management. Supported Housing consists of a variety of housing and support models, including: a) Supported Independent Living (SIL): Self-contained, subsidized, private market apartment/mobile homes governed by Residential Tenancy Act. b) Scattered Supported Apartments: Clients live in self-contained subsidized private market apartments/mobile homes, usually one-bedroom units, governed by the Residential Tenancy Act. Clients pay reduced rent based on income (maximum 35 percent of income). BC Housing provides a rent subsidy. Off site home support and mental health and addictions services are coordinated through a mental health case manager. c) Clustered/Block Apartments: Self-contained, subsidized apartments governed by Residential Tenancy Act in a building where all units are occupied by persons with mental disorders. d) Congregate Housing: Bachelor suites governed by Residential Tenancy Act in a building where all units are occupied by persons with mental disorders, clients do not have kitchens within their suites and meals are provided; clients pay reduced rent.

Facility Type	Definition
	e) Group Homes: Clients share a communal home and participate in shared living arrangements with on-site and off-site support; clients stay usually short term - under 2 years. Not licensed under CCALA but must meet standards developed by the Health Authority. f) Supported Hotels: Single room occupancy, leased or owned hotels, managed by a non-profit agency; clients pay reduced rent based on income, receive on-site support and supervision. Clients usually stay long term - over two years.
Rental Subsidy	Rental subsidies funded by Health Authorities serving clients with mental disorders who have graduated from mental health Supported Housing and continue to require a rent subsidy and case management services from the local community mental health centre to maintain their affordable housing.
ACT/ICM Rental Subsidy	Rental subsidies funded by Health Authorities for clients receiving treatment and support services from Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) or Intensive Case Management (ICM) teams to live in safe and affordable scattered housing with support from the ACT/ICM team. These rental subsidies are only reported in this category when they are not captured in supported housing categories.
Community Crisis Stabilization Units	These units are funded by Health Authorities and licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) providing assessment, treatment, stabilization, and referral for follow-up services for people requiring immediate psychiatric treatment. Crisis stabilization units are an alternative to Acute Inpatient Psychiatric Care and services are provided within a safe and supportive home-like environment. Units operate 24-hour a day, seven days a week and are staffed by on-site professional mental health and addictions staff such as a physician, nurses and social workers.
Emergency Shelters	These beds are funded fully or partially by Health Authorities providing temporary accommodation and meals for people with mental disorders who are homeless. Services include access to off-site mental health and addictions community services, support to obtain long-term housing and referrals to appropriate community services. Please note: Emergency Shelters fully funded by BC Housing are not included in this definition.
Crisis Residential Care (Short Stay Crisis Stabilization)	These units are funded by health authorities and may be licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) providing short-term crisis stabilization services for people with mental disorders who are having acute psychosocial crises such as an eviction from their living arrangements, termination of employment or substance use overdose temporarily impacting their daily functioning. Services are provided by para-professional mental health and addictions staff, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to assist clients in resolving their immediate crises and supporting clients to return to their usual level of functioning and to their former accommodation or living arrangements. These facilities should not be confused with Community Crisis Stabilization Units where the primary focus is on psychiatric treatment.

Extract date 2013-04-09

Notes

- 1 Counts of Mental Health and Substance Use (MHSU) beds are collected from the health authorities and BC Housing semi-annually in a Beds Inventory survey.
- 2 Beds counts for a reporting period are the beds available in each health authority as of the reporting period date. Bed counts for this report are for March 31, representing the end of the fiscal year.
- 3 Data are reported as submitted to the Ministry of Health by the health authorities
- 4 This report uses the bed categories from the MHSU Beds Inventory and provides separate tabs for: Community Beds/Units; Community Supported Housing; BC Housing; Acute; Tertiary; ED (Emergency Department)
- 5 Community Beds_Units Count tab: To protect the personal privacy of the individuals who are receiving care in small community facilities, data have been aggregated to the city level where facilities have one or two beds. Selected data elements are not available for the aggregates counts.
- 6 See the FOI HTH-2017-72262 Definitions file for detailed definitions of the facility types used in this report.

Extract date 2013-10-07

Notes

- 1 Counts of Mental Health and Substance Use (MHSU) beds are collected from the health authorities and BC Housing semi-annually in a Beds Inventory survey.
- 2 Beds counts for a reporting period are the beds available in each health authority as of the reporting period date. Bed counts for this report are for March 31, representing the end of the fiscal year.
- 3 Data are reported as submitted to the Ministry of Health by the health authorities
- 4 This report uses the bed categories from the MHSU Beds Inventory and provides separate tabs for: Community Beds/Units; Community Supported Housing; BC Housing; Acute; Tertiary; ED (Emergency Department)
- 5 Community Beds_Units Count tab: To protect the personal privacy of the individuals who are receiving care in small community facilities, data have been aggregated to the city level where facilities have one or two beds. Selected data elements are not available for the aggregates counts.
- 6 See the FOI HTH-2017-72262 Definitions file for detailed definitions of the facility types used in this report.

Notes

- 1 Counts of Mental Health and Substance Use (MHSU) beds are collected from the health authorities and BC Housing semi-annually in a Beds Inventory survey.
- 2 Beds counts for a reporting period are the beds available in each health authority as of the reporting period date. Bed counts for this report are for March 31, representing the end of the fiscal year.
- 3 Data are reported as submitted to the Ministry of Health by the health authorities
- 4 This report uses the bed categories from the MHSU Beds Inventory and provides separate tabs for: Community Beds/Units; Community Supported Housing; BC Housing; Acute; Tertiary; ED (Emergency Department)
- 5 Community Beds_Units Count tab: To protect the personal privacy of the individuals who are receiving care in small community facilities, data have been aggregated to the city level where facilities have one or two beds. Selected data elements are not available for the aggregates counts.
- 6 See the FOI HTH-2017-72262 Definitions file for detailed definitions of the facility types used in this report.

Extract date 2015-07-09

Notes

- 1 Counts of Mental Health and Substance Use (MHSU) beds are collected from the health authorities and BC Housing semi-annually in a Beds Inventory survey.
- 2 Beds counts for a reporting period are the beds available in each health authority as of the reporting period date. Bed counts for this report are for March 31, representing the end of the fiscal year.
- 3 Data are reported as submitted to the Ministry of Health by the health authorities
- 4 This report uses the bed categories from the MHSU Beds Inventory and provides separate tabs for: Community Beds/Units; Community Supported Housing; BC Housing; Acute; Tertiary; ED (Emergency Department)
- 5 Community Beds_Units Count tab: To protect the personal privacy of the individuals who are receiving care in small community facilities, data have been aggregated to the city level where facilities have one or two beds. Selected data elements are not available for the aggregates counts.
- 6 See the FOI HTH-2017-72262 Definitions file for detailed definitions of the facility types used in this report.

Extract date 2016-08-26

Notes

- 1 Counts of Mental Health and Substance Use (MHSU) beds are collected from the health authorities and BC Housing semi-annually in a Beds Inventory survey.
- 2 Beds counts for a reporting period are the beds available in each health authority as of the reporting period date. Bed counts for this report are for March 31, representing the end of the fiscal year.
- 3 Data are reported as submitted to the Ministry of Health by the health authorities
- 4 This report uses the bed categories from the MHSU Beds Inventory and provides separate tabs for: Community Beds/Units; Community Supported Housing; BC Housing; Acute; Tertiary; ED (Emergency Department)
- 5 Community Beds_Units Count tab: To protect the personal privacy of the individuals who are receiving care in small community facilities, data have been aggregated to the city level where facilities have one or two beds. Selected data elements are not available for the aggregates counts.
- 6 See the FOI HTH-2017-72262 Definitions file for detailed definitions of the facility types used in this report.
